School Board Successfully Passed Bond Issue and Tax Raise

Dr. Hugh Livingston, Superintendent

With the passage of the Bond Issue and the tax increase in November, the Board of Education planned expansion and many improvements for Springfield High School. This board, consisting of citizens of the district, prepared building projects to include additional facilities for the physical education department and the construction of a new high school which would relieve the overcrowdedness at S.H.S. Besides building improvements the board also hoped to improve curriculum with additional equipment and textbooks. With these totaled projects completed in the future, S.H.S. and other Springfield schools will be finer than ever.

Forty-two Years of Devotion With a Smile Characterized Miss Atkins and Her Work

Organizing and sending transcripts, handling all the financial affairs of the school and the school's clubs, and being a very helpful secretary to the principal—these jobs Miss Edna Atkins performed daily at Springfield High School. Many times she remained several hours after school or worked long hours at home.

We consider her to be the person best informed about S.H.S. and its traditions, for she attended our school in her own high school days. She worked as an office assistant, gaining experience which led her, after graduation, to step into the position of office secretary in the main office. Since that time she has completed 42 years of service, much needed and appreciated by S.H.S.

It is a pleasure to dedicate the 1965 Capitoline to Miss Atkins.

Miss Edna Atkins

"To say that Miss Atkins is an intelligent, efficient, and dedicated worker puts her in the same class as a multitude of others; but to say that here is a person who is always interested in learning more about everything puts her in a class with a select few."

Former principal L. K. Davis

"very conscientious, dedicated secretary for the best interests of the entire school"

Former principal Roy A. Wentz

"Miss Atkins has given devoted service to students, teachers, and administrators. Accurate and dependable, her good judgement and even temperament have been a steadying influence for many years at S.H.S."

Former principal Robert D. Furry

"When you find a smile indicative of friendship, mutual trust, respect, and warmth, you have found a person well worth knowing. And when you know a person who, in addition, is self-sacrificing, competent, efficient, and devoted to a noble cause you have, indeed, a treasure. Such a person is Edna Atkins."

Former principal Warren L. Evenson, Ph.D.

"quiet, courteous, friendly, and competent—Edna Atkins has been and will continue to be the efficient right arm of the school principals. Miss Atkins is Springfield High School. This fine tribute is richly deserved, for hers is a dedication to service unsurpassed in our school district."

Principal Frank Frankowiak

Mr. Gates

ADMINISTRATION

Vigorous enthusiasm and devoted interest are but mere phrases in describing our principal Mr. Frankowiak. It cannot be doubted that he definitely believes "the student is the most important person in this building" as we students watch him mingling with the crowds on lunchshifts, between classes or before school. But getting acquainted with the core of S.H.S. is only one among many jobs Mr. Frank has as principal. Everything that occurs at S.H.S. is his responsibility. Improvement of the school and enrichment of curriculum lie in his hands. Setting a "tone" for the school remains his task. He best described his own position with the statement that he must "reach a decision, a minute".

His enthusiastic nature extends beyond his work at S.H.S. to his service in the community. In 1962 he was general chairman of the United Fund of Sangamon County. He also served as chairman of the Tourism Committee. At present he is a board member of the Boy's Club and is a member of the Labor Relations Commission. The community recognizes, as we do, his devoted service and spirited interest in the people around him. The Junior Chamber of Commerce selected him as the most outstanding Jaycee for 1955. A year later this organization presented him with the "distinguished service" award.

As proud Senators, we extend our fullest appreciation to Mr. Frankowiak.

Assistant Principal, Mr. Turner

Assistant Principals Administered to Students' Needs

Assistant principals Mr. Turner and Mr. Tozer oversaw student behavior and attendance. Mr. Turner specifically was responsible for teacher selection, homeroom assignments, assemblies, and student registration. In addition he was chairman of the committee for National Honor Society.

Mr. Tozer's responsibilities included being supervisor of the Student Office and the attendance office and scheduling classes. He also serves as the Director of Counselling. Both assistant principals gave the morning announcements.

Counselors Strived to Help

Sophomore counselors stated that their main purpose was to "help kids help themselves." They were always assisting students in planning their schedules, finding colleges, and solving personal problems.

Junior counselors had similar duties, but they also helped students in preparing for the P.S.A.T. and National Merit Scholarship Examination.

Senior counselors, as well as junior and sophomore counselors, were busy throughout the year with scheduling and organizing the homeroom programs. But Mr. Gates and Mrs. Halberg were also faced with many other tasks. They were primarily concerned with students satisfying graduation requirements, but they were also quite helpful to the student in preparing for employment and further education after graduation. Working with local businesses, they often aided seniors in finding jobs here in Springfield. In helping the college-bound student, they distributed admission and scholarship information, assisted in preparation for senior tests, and processed college applications.

Guidance and counseling services functioned to help students achieve self-understanding and self-direction. The counseling center supplied students with college catalogs, scholarship pamphlets, and military school information. Students used a new file devoted to occupational information and college pamphlets. Two new round tables with cushioned chairs, donated by the 1964 senior class, a furnished lounging area in which students could thumb through yearbooks or magazines.

Library Facilitated Research Work

Nancy Haaker

Just about everyone used the facilities of the school library for various purposes. Students came to gather information for reports and research papers, to supplement textbook material, or simply to find a good book to read. When a student had difficulty in locating material, he found quick and efficient aid through Mrs. Haaker, the librarian, and Mrs. Watts, her assistant. During every class hour and before and after school, student assistants worked in the library. They helped file many of the 10,900 books which the library owns, as well as the sixty magazines to which the school subscribes.

English Initiated College Placement Course

Designed to aid both vocational and college-bound students, the S.H.S. English Department offered a varied and comprehensive program in grammar, vocabulary development, and in the literature of various cultures. Continuing to improve the existing curriculum, the Department instituted an Advanced Placement Course for seniors. Members of this class were exposed to a broad range of materials and were required to analyze them in depth. At the end of the year, the students were given an opportunity to take a nationwide test to qualify for college credit.

Sophomore English concentrated on nineteenth-century American literature and its background besides offering instruction in journalism and biographical research. Junior English correlated English literature from the Anglo-Saxon era to the Victorian Age with critical interpretation. Preparing for college entrance, writing a term paper, and studying modern American or world literature composed the senior English courses. In addition, seniors participated in drama and speech classes. For those interested in increasing reading speed and comprehension, S.H.S. provided a modern reading laboratory.

The innovations coupled with augmentation of existing facilities have made our English Department one of the most progressive and up-to-date.

Social Science Department

Williams Evans

To be a successful citizen of his community and his nation, a student needs a solid background in the humanities. Fulfilling these needs was the aim of the Social Science Department. The curriculum offered study in the areas of history and political and social sciences.

World history, an elective course, dealt with man's historical evolution. United States history, a required course, supplied the student with an understanding of our nation by emphasizing the political, social, and economic developments. Accelerated students of history participated, by choice, in the College Placement Course in U. S. history. If they successfully passed an intensive test at the end of the year, they could receive some college hours of credit in history.

Developed Good Citizenship

American government, also required, included a study of how the nation operates, besides a study of state and local government. Closely related to government is economics, which emphasized national problems in industry, labor, and agriculture. The importance and nature of the social group as related to our nation was studied in sociology. World affairs broadened the student's perspectives to include the conceptions of political and economic philosophies of other nations.

In an era in which fluency in a foreign language is a prerequisite for international understanding, the SHS Foreign Language Department offered an extensive curriculum in French, Spanish, Latin, and German. The modern conversational method of teaching French and Spanish has been expanded. In these classes, students learned a foreign language as they had learned English—by listening to native speakers, repeating the content, and then writing. Future plans for the Foreign Language Department, which have been discussed, include the addition of a Russian course as well as increasing the number of years offered in each language.

During the second semester, outstanding Latin students competed in the statewide Latin contest. A number of first, second, and third year students represented our school after they had spent many extra hours of study in preparation.

Fine Arts Revealed Students' Abilities

The Fine Arts Department stimulated the development of a student's ability in music or art. These two major fields are subdivided into four areas: vocal instruction, orchestra, band, and general art. The vocal department, under the direction of Mr. Spreckelmeyer, consisted of the A Cappella Choir, the Singing Seven, the Advanced Girls' Choir, the Mixed Choir, and the Sophomore Girls' Choir. All the choirs performed a Christmas and spring program. In addition, the Advanced Girls' Choir and the A Cappella Choir performed a mid-winter concert. A Cappella attended the Big Twelve Festival, and All-City Music Festival. The renowned Singing Seven gave more than forty concerts throughout the year. The orchestra, directed by Mr. Bowen, represented SHS in many concerts. They played under the Capitol Rotunda, in a spring concert, and for the city's junior high schools. Another busy musical group was the band which played for all home football and basketball games and marched in the city's parades. Mr. Conavay, the director, prepared numbers that were performed in over thirty concerts.

In the art department, students learned the value, meaning, and purposes of art. The most creative senior art student received the Marjorie Mason award in May.

Attempting to provide a curriculum that would benefit all students, the Mathematics Department offered two main areas of study. The traditional algebra and geometry courses gave a basic training in advanced mathematics, while the accelerated classes in algebra, analytic geometry, trigonometry, and statistics stressed the theory and modern concepts of mathematics.

Among the special courses was the S.M.S.G. program (School Mathematics Study Group) in algebra for juniors. Analytic geometry was an honors course offered only to some select seniors.

Two Advanced Courses Were Added to the Science Curriculum

The lab manual says it's the primary phloem.

Aware of the projection that the sum total of human knowledge will double between 1964 and 1971, the S.H.S. Science Department planned a curriculum and utilized teaching methods that will keep pace with new developments in the physical science field. Among the innovations was a special course for Juniors which combines physics and chemistry in a modern comprehensive study. Members of this class will continue with their work through their senior year. Similarly, a select group of Sophomores was offered a lab-centered biology course featuring work in chemistry and its application to the natural sciences.

To supplement the curriculum, students were able to attend special seminars that explored many facets of the physical sciences. The Physiology Seminar, sponsored by Springfield physicians and surgeons, was expanded to five sessions. The county-wide Science Seminars, concerned with varied themes such as "Anthropology," "Air Pollution," and "Radiological Monitoring," was extended to ten sessions held during the fall and winter months. Also interested in advanced study, several of the department's faculty members will continue work under National Science Foundation grants.

Manual and Trade Skills

Developing occupational skills and job attitudes, teaching safe work practices, and providing related technical information for students preparing to enter into industry, the trades, or the service fields was the object of industrial education.

Various courses were offered in vocational and industrial arts. Auto mechanics concerned all the phases of automotive service. Building trades supplied the fundamental skills required in carpentry. Graphic arts involved the study of printing techniques. These classes printed the school newspaper and other school material. The machine shop developed skills for industrial work, and drafting offered a general training in the universal language of the industrial fields.

A Sound Body for a Sound Mind

Physical fitness is synonymous with good mental development. This year smaller classes, as a result from the seniors' exemption from gym, enabled the Physical Education Department to provide more individual and recreational sports. Besides the usual sports of softball, basketball, volleyball, football, soccer, and track, students engaged in gymnastics, tennis, badminton, horseshoes, golf, and aerial darts. Girls' classes even experienced square, modern, and social dancing along with rhythmical rope skipping. Swimming and bowling were also offered. The department sponsored intramurals in basketball, volleyball, and golf to help stimulate student competition, good sportsmanship, and fair play.

Special Education Provided Learning Facilities for Physically Handicapped

SHS provided a special facilities center for the physically handicapped students. Within this center were several typewriters and equipment for the partially deaf. This room also served as a study center. Mr. Muehlhauser, the resource room teacher, helped students with their subjects and taught history and typing courses.

The Special Education Department also contained a speech correction program under the supervision of Eleanor Mosley.

Administration Initiated Use of IBM Processing

Hilda Blair

The Student Office expanded its work to serve the student as a dispersing center for material relative to the student body. Miss Bryant and Mrs. DiAngelo had many responsibilities, such as issuing locks and lockers, recording absences, and caring for the graduation robes. A major innovation was the introduction of the IBM data processing for schedules. Eventually it is hoped that all types of services can be rendered more speedily and efficiently through this data machine.

Adjacent to the Student Office was the nurse's office. Mrs. Blair, the nurse, helped any sick or injured student.

In the main office, secretaries Mrs. Lane and Miss Stringer handled school correspondence, college transcripts, senior credits, and all the money received from graduation, book rentals, and other sources.

Cafeteria Staff Fed the Multitude Custodians Endlessly Cleaned

The school lunch program, sponsored by the State of Illinois, was designed to provide the students with a well-balanced noon meal. For the members of the cafeteria staff this entailed a large magnitude of production. In order to prepare from 1000 to 1200 lunches per day, the cafeteria used each day 300 pounds of potatoes, 1000 half pints of milk, 35 loaves of bread, 30 pounds of butter, and 48 heads of lettuce.

The five-day custodians were responsible for the endless cleaning of a hundred rooms and halls. Custodial duty included cleaning before and after regular classes while the night shift cleaned after night school classes, P.T.A. meetings, concerts, and various other activities.

The 1964-1965 Student Council began this year's list of activities with a September Homecoming Dance. The next project undertaken was the annual all-city "Can and a Dime" Drive at Thanksgiving. During this effort Springfield High School's Council raised the greatest amount of money of all the city high schools. The Council drive at Christmas time was "Peanuts for Polio", and the first event in the new year was the Variety Show. Money earned by the Student Council throughout the year was used to bring an American Field Service student here and to support the foster child, Florentino Santos, for whom the Council is responsible. This year's officers and the seventy-five members of the Student Council strived to maintain the high standards traditional at Springfield High School and to further the Council's goal of the betterment of the school and the best interests of the student body.

Throughout the year Interact sold cokes at the Theatre Guild during Guild productions. Interact members also worked with the Heart Fund drive. All in all, 1964-1965 season was another successful year of service.

Les Bas Built Prize-Winning Homecoming Float

Les Bas Bleus, one of SHS's most active service clubs, started the year off well by constructing the first-place float in the Homecoming Parade. Continuing this success throughout the year, the organization sponsored such service projects as filling Red Cross Christmas boxes for the children at the Lincoln School, giving a party for the children at the Hope School for the Blind, and entering a float in the Bond Issue Parade. A new project this year was the sale of donuts before and after school, an undertaking which proved to be very profitable. Other fund-raising projects included a paper drive in November and the annual spring dance.

They commenced the year with building the homecoming bonfire and selling school activity calendars. The boys engaged in many community service projects, such as supervising activities at Harvard Park Boys' Club, participating in the city-wide Get-Out-the-Vote Campaign, building a bond issue float, passing out bond issue literature, collecting soap for the Dixon State School, and distributing 150 posters for the Sangamon County Tuberculosis Association. Other civic projects included a work day at the Little Red Schoolhouse, the collection of cans for Thanksgiving baskets, and participation in the Safe-Teen Car Checks. It is easy to see why the Springfield High School chapter of Key Club was one of the top in Illinois.

Philos Contributed to the Upkeep of Animal Shelter

"Looks like we'll dunk 'em—donut?"

Philos began a very active '64-'65 school year early in September with their annual Initiation Day, during which each new member had to execute duties assigned to her by a sometimes seemingly impossible pledgemaster. Towards the end of October, an impressive ceremony was held in which the new members were formally initiated.

Working at the Animal Shelter was, like last year, Philos' main project. In the fall and spring, members often spent their Saturdays doing all sorts of odd jobs at the shelter. In December, the club participated in Tag Day, the purpose of which was to raise money for this home for animals.

February was the month of Philos' Junk Jewelry Sale. Bracelets, rings, necklaces, and pins all were contributed by club members, and were sold to S.H.S. girls for clear profit. Much of the money was used for the support of a young Colombian girl, Philos' foster child.

The club completed its active year in April with its annual Mother-Daughter Tea.

Debate Achieved Best Win-Loss Year

The Debate Team met with their sponsor, Mr. Hughes, at least three nights per week after school to review speeches, anticipate possible approaches, research for their cases, and prepare for tournaments. The controversial statement for the year was "Resolved: that nuclear weapons should be controlled by an international organization." Achieving the best win-loss session ever for SHS, the novice debaters won trophies at Bradley and Southern Illinois Universities, while the varsity debaters engaged in sixteen tournaments, some of which were Carbondale, Normal, Limestone, Trinity meet at Bloomington, Big-12 at SHS, and the Sectional meet at Lincoln. Debate in the future hopes to be an accredited course.

FSA Supplied Insight Into Secretarial Careers

The Springfield High School Future Secretaries Association provided a club designed to stimulate interest and develop skill in a secretarial career. Membership was open to any junior or senior girl who maintained a grade average of C+ or better in academic and business subjects and who exhibited an interest in the secretarial field. With their sponsor, Miss Leasman, FSA helped its members gain a practical insight into a business career through discussions and first-hand experiences.

FTA Observed Special Teaching Methods

The Illinois State Convention in April and the Student Observation and Participation program (S.O.A.P.) were the highlights of the Future Teachers of America. To acquaint prospective teachers with the aspects of the profession, students listened to speakers, watched films, and observed special elementary classes during after school meetings. Besides the school meetings, the members attended city-wide meetings on the second Monday of every month.

Many active members visited at nearby schools during their 7th hour study to actually conduct classes with the teacher's help. The club, with their sponsor, Miss Campbell, has continued supplying teaching information for the file they maintain in the Counseling Center.

Assistants Aided in Office Administration

Co-ordinating the intra-school communications and serving as aids to the members of the S.H.S. administration, the Office Assistants enabled the faculty to carry out a well organized curriculum and extracurricular program. The participating students relinquished a study hall in order to assist in either the main or student offices. Their work made it possible for the school's faculty and student body to run in a business-like manner with a minimum of red tape and a maximum of promptness. Office assistants themselves gained not only a sense of participation in the administration of the school, but also a knowledge of the techniques and problems encountered in the management of a large scale organization.

Serving Solons' Lunches Occupied Cafeteria Council

The oldest club in Springfield High School, the Cafeteria Council, sponsored a large number of important activities, in addition to providing efficient lunch room services. Holding semi-monthly meetings, the Council planned services that included paying for the lunches of the A.F.S. student, giving the Valentine's Day Dance, buying books for the library, paying for the Judo assembly, and preparing Thanksgiving food baskets for needy families in the community. Cafeteria Council's projects afforded its members valuable experience and a sense of responsibility.

YFC Attended Holiday Teen Convention

Every Tuesday after school, the Youth for Christ held meetings which featured singing, games, films, and speakers. For special activities this interdenominational organization sponsored bowling parties, sunspirations, singspirations, and retreats. Twice a month the club joined other Y.F.C. groups at area rallies. In December several of the members attended the Holiday Teen Convention which was held in Detroit, Michigan.

Students in O.O. Gained On The Job Experiences

Office Occupations, affiliated with the district and state Office Occupations Organization, was open to any senior girl or boy interested in office work as a career. Members attended a class each morning from eight o'clock to nine-thirty. This class dealt with typing, shorthand, and accounting. Then from one o'clock to five after regular academic classes, members left for respective jobs from which they received regular company salaries. Students received one credit each for their morning class work and the on the job training. The club also sent delegates to state and district meetings.

D.O. Prepared Students for Future Careers

Diversified Occupations offered to any junior or senior over sixteen a program to prepare them for future jobs such as auto mechanics, printing, drafting, microfilming, cosmetology, and dental assistant. Students attended a morning class concerning information on these fields. Then after completing required academic classes, the students left the school for their on-the-job training. S.H.S. gave D.O. members one credit each for the classroom work and on the job training.

Pep Club's Cheers Supported Sports Activities

A Pep Club business meeting.

Officers: Sally Wanless, President; Jane Wright, Treasurer; Marsha Mountz, Secretary; Bob Knox, Vice-President.

Re-established this year for the first time since 1962 by a group of determined advocates of school spirit, the Pep Club caught hold quickly and fast became a popular addition to S.H.S. activities. Members attended Wednesday practice sessions, occupied the front rows at pep assemblies, and worked with the cheerleaders at all home games to support the team in victory as well as defeat. As a reward for Pep Club's co-operation and success in unifying the student body to back the team, S.H.S. received the coveted Sportsmanship Trophy at City Tournament.

Students Developed Creativity in Art Club

Students wishing to express and develop creativity, along with promoting better art appreciation, joined the Art Club. This club met twice a month for business meetings or for lectures given by noted speakers in the art field. Many other times throughout the year, the members visited an art gallery, an art studio, or a museum.

Interesting Programs Planned by Assembly Committee

Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild Assembly

Last year the Assembly Committee, advised by Mr. O'Neal, planned four major assemblies to entertain and enlighten the students and faculty. Included among the assemblies were a Judo and Karate exhibition, a glass blowing demonstration, and an acrobatic performance. This year's committee planned for the paid assemblies to be presented in 1965-66.

Singing Seven Entertained at School Concerts and Civic Programs

The girls composing the Singing Seven group were perhaps the most successful public relations promoters of S.H.S. They performed for countless civic organizations, school assemblies all over the city, and other clubs and conventions in both the city and other parts of the state. They even sang for numerous radio and television broadcasts. The seven singers and the pianist who were privileged enough to be members of this select group were chosen for personality, poise, and, most important, for vocal ability. Wearing their traditional red dresses and warm smiles, the Singing Seven represented the student body of Springfield High School to the public in a way that made S.H.S. very proud.

SHS Band Played at All Home Games

Woodwinds, brass, and tympani

Under the direction of Mr. Conavay, the Advanced Band completed another year of musical success. Practicing an hour a day, the band worked hard to serve both S.H.S. and the community. It had the honor of playing on the Court House Square for President Johnson when he visited Springfield in October. It assisted the passing of the Bond Issue by marching in the Bond Issue Parade and brightened home athletic events with its spirited music and imaginative half time programs.

The eighty-voice A Cappella Choir remained one of SHS's busiest organizations. Performing in a United Nations Day program in front of the Municipal Building, the choir began its concert season in October. Activities increased at Christmas time. On December 13th, the choir made a trip to Illinois Wesleyan University in order to participate in the college's annual holiday concert. The choir also gave its own annual Christmas concert, presented the school pre-holiday assembly, and went Christmas caroling through the halls.

During the second semester A Cappella rehearsed for a Lincoln Day program, given at the First Methodist Church, its Big Twelve concert at Lincoln, and the annual Mid-Winter Concert. The choir completed its successful year with the visits to Jefferson, Franklin, and Grant Junior High Schools and with the annual spring program including the other S.H.S. choirs.

During the past year, the Orchestra, composed of some forty musicians, could be heard practicing each day during the seventh hour. Throughout the year, the Orchestra gave a Christmas concert at the Capitol building, played at several city grade schools, worked at the concessions stand at the Springfield Symphony, and gave their annual Spring concert. Some members played at the Big 12 concert in Lincoln, and others competed in State contests.

Midwestern Colleges and Universities Sent Representatives to SHS College Day

Students find out new facts about the University of Illinois.

On Tuesday, October 18th, Springfield High was host to representatives from over forty colleges and universities located throughout the Midwest. During College Day, students were given an opportunity to inquire about the curriculum and admission requirements at the various schools in which they were interested.

In addition to the day session, the college representatives were present in the gym from seven to nine P.M. in order to answer questions from parents as well as students.

As in previous years, College Day was sponsored by the Interact Club. Due to the unusually favorable response by the student body, this year's was one of the most successful College Days ever.

Waiting for another prospect

Adult representatives from thirty-five different careers presented facts and offered advice about their specific field to inquiring students during the successful Career Day. This annual project, sponsored by Key Club, included an assembly with speaker Mr. Donn Hayes, supervisor of the educational services at Allis-Chalmers. He advised students on, "What Your Employer Expects From You". The day following the assembly, students used study-hall period to question representatives from business, medicine, engineering, law, architecture; Armed Forces, banking, agriculture, broadcasting, and other various careers. Over 300 students participated in Career Day and gained a better understanding into what might become their future job.

Among the earliest money-making projects undertaken by the Senior class was the Fall Festival, held on the evening of October 17 at Marr's farm out by Lake Springfield. The entertainment was divided into three activities. One was a hootenanny in the hayloft of the barn. Participants in the show were Janey Whalen, Lee Buch, Jack Miller, Job Conger, and Jim Richardson. In the barnyard outside, square dancing was called for interested couples. Throughout the evening a fire was kept burning for roasting hot dogs while soft drinks and hot cocoa were sold. At various intervals, hayrack rides toured the farm. Profits from the evening, totaling more than $200, were used for the Senior Prom.

Again this year the Senior Class presented three one-act plays under the direction of Mr. Andrews. The cast of characters was Phyllis Porter, Lee Buch, Karen Stutzman, Joe Hammerslough, and Connie Thorneburg. "No 'Count Boy" by Paul Green presents a young girl's desire to see the world before she must marry and settle down. The cast of characters included Sandra Carey, Steve Grummon, Jim Sullivan, and Jane McConnell. The third and last play, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals", by J. M. Barrie portrayed a woman's desire for a brave and valiant son to fight in World War I. The cast of characters was Peg Swofford, Pam Gates, Gina Skovronsky, Loretta Whitney, Pete Maher, and Jack Miller.

Exchange Student Introduced Turkish Culture

Our Turkish exchange student
Birsen Alpan

Last June, when I learned that I was chosen as an AFS student from my school in Turkey, I knew that this was going to be a turning point in my life. I was anxious to come to the United States and let the Americans know about my country, as well as to learn about their social life, customs, and people.

From the very moment of my arrival to the States, I realized that this year was going to be a most unforgettable one. A very short period of time proved that I was right. I had a family which I love as much as my own; and I attended a typical American high school, where the relationships between the teachers and the students were based on amity and understanding.

During my year here, I could learn and observe all the things that were new to me with the help of my family and my friends. Now, although I am sad at the thought of leaving this country, I am also eager to go back to Turkey and share the memories of my great experience with my people.

SHS AFSer Spent Summer In Italy

In the twelve weary days from New York City to Rotterdam, Holland, none of the 987 Europe-bound AFSers even dreamed of all the rewarding and suspense-filled moments ahead.

I met my family in Como, Italy, after a three and a half day train ride through Germany and Switzerland with the thirty-nine other Italian students. I was almost instantly taken into a slow-paced life of ease in a small mountain village (Mandello del Lario). As it was summer, my brother and sister were not in school. I had just unpacked when Papa announced that we were to leave for St. Monitz the following day. As it became apparent that I would see only five days in Italy, I was being shown all the beautiful cities, cathedrals, palaces, and people that I had read about. As the months flew by I was to leave behind many eye-opening events with my family, elephants, anti-westerners, snow storms, and country festivals.

To the American Field Service I owe a great deal for this single opportunity given me in meeting and sharing ideas with other people of our world.

Last one in is a rotten egg!

This year's cross country team was the best SHS has had in a long time. The meet record of six wins and no losses illustrated this fact. Besides the excellent dual meet record, the team placed second in Big Twelve, third in the Peoria Invitational Tournament, and were champions in both the city and district meets. A very apt summary from Coach Cochran described the season as a "successful year" and the team as "the greatest depth of ability in nine years."

Sophomore Football Chalked Up Near-Perfect Record

Sophomore squad had a very good year as their 7-0-1 record indicates. Their only loss was to MacArthur. They won City Championship by beating all three teams; they also won the City Jamboree for the third year in a row by beating Feitshans and Lanphier. The team scored over 171 points to their opponents' 74. These boys should be a great asset to the varsity football squad for the next two years.

Sophomore Basketball Team Suffered Setbacks

This year's Sophomore basketball squad showed hustle and desire. The team was lacking in essential height; every boy was under the six-foot mark except one. The boys experienced the thrill of competition, both in success and failure. Practice and techniques gained in this season will prove invaluable for next year's varsity team.

Wrestling Team Showed Best Overall Record Since the First Season in 1961

Even though the win-loss record was poor, the Senator wrestling squad showed marked improvement as the season progressed. The team opened with a 27-19 loss to Feitshans followed by a loss to Lincoln. The sophomore team scored a win in the Decatur Eisenhower match. Then the team lost to Decatur MacArthur but defeated Danville for the team's first varsity win in Big 12 since S.H.S. began wrestling in 1961. After losses to Stephen Decatur and Jacksonville, the sophomores beat the varsity team from the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School, but they scored a loss of 38-14 to Lanphier. The overall record including sophomore matches was 3 wins and 6 losses.

In tournaments the team finished third in the city with 85 points. A 6th place tie in the Big 12 and a 5th place finish in the District Tournament concluded the season for all but three wrestlers who qualified for the Sectional Tournament at Wood River. These three were: Jim Winch, a senior, who finished 1st in the 145 lb. weight division at the District meet; Jim Ozier, a sophomore, who finished 2nd at 103 lbs. in the District meet; and Jim Fleming, a sophomore, who finished 2nd at 127 lbs. in the District meet.

The most successful wrestler, Jim Winch, also team captain, possessed an overall record of 11 wins, 4 losses and 1 tie.

The cheerleaders were definitely among the busiest girls in the school during the past year. They began practicing last summer and continued doing so every day until the end of the basketball season. Not only did the cheerleaders perform their obvious duty of leading cheers at football and basketball games, but they also earned money to buy new pom-poms and planned and participated in all pep assemblies.

The happiest moment of the '64-'65 cheerleaders was perhaps on January 23rd when they were awarded the Sportsmanship trophy at the City Basketball Tournament.

Senior Class Boasted the Establishment of New Money-Making Projects

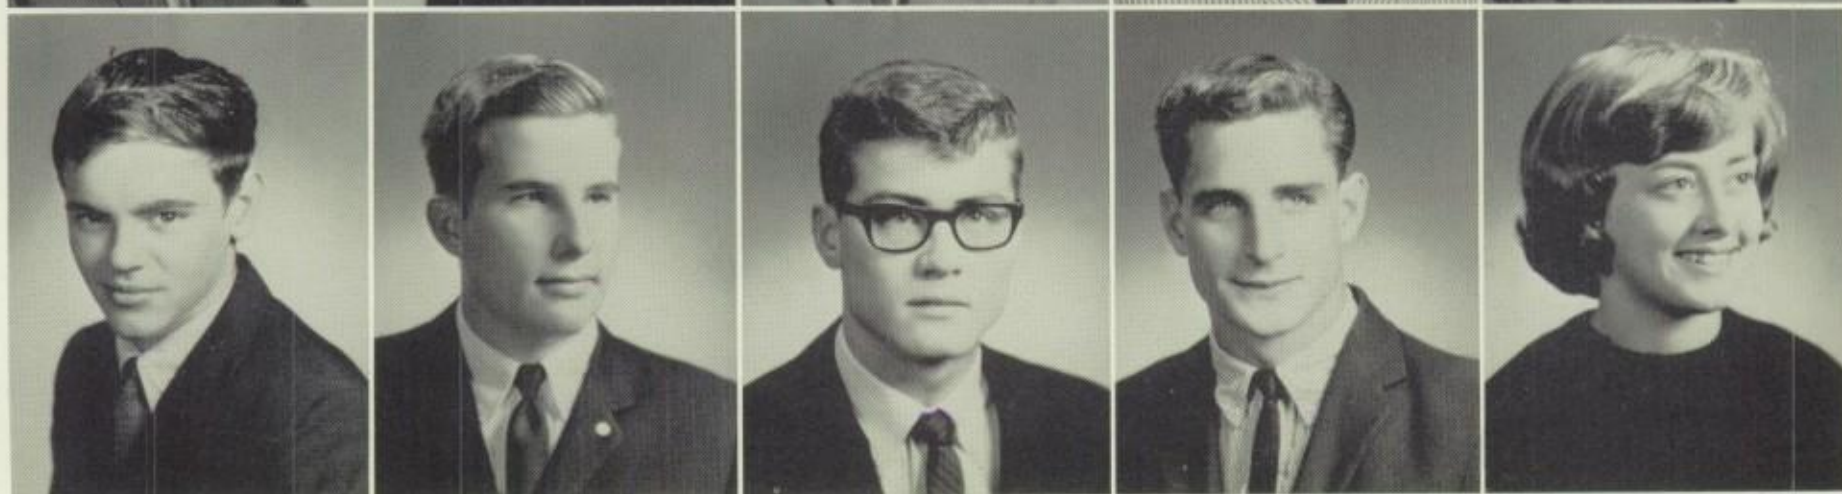

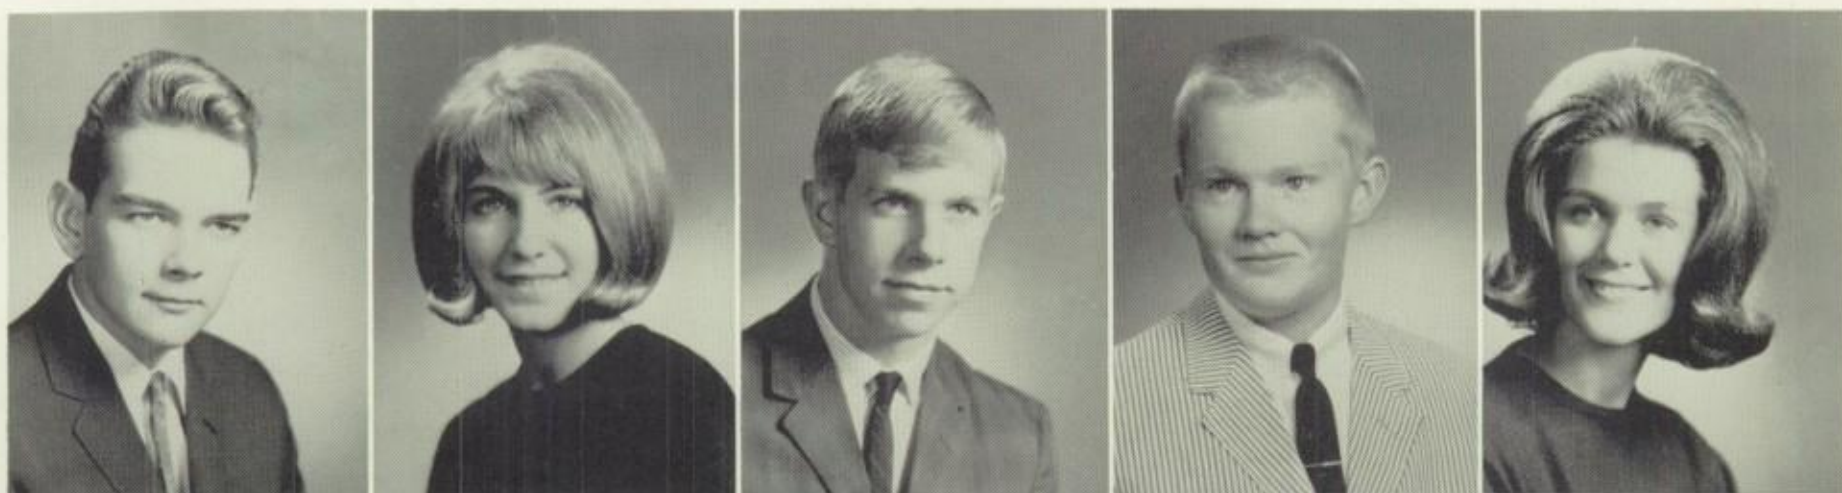

When we first entered our last year at S.H.S., there were many doubts about the success of the Class of '65. As a result of this doubt, the class worked hard and performed with a spirit of enthusiasm which made it renowned at Springfield High School.

We engaged in many new activities, such as the Fall Festival and the Spaghetti Dinner. Traditional activities that previously were of little financial value to the senior class were made successful. Plans for the prom were set, Glenn Miller's original recording band was contracted to play, the theme was selected, and decorations were made. These were just a few examples of successful projects we had.

As seniors we owe Springfield High School a great deal of gratitude. The school shaped our ideas and helped to broaden our views on life. The faculty and administration put forth much time and effort to prepare us to meet the responsibilities of life.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank every member of the class for helping to make this a happy and prosperous year.

Officers Led Class of '66 Through an Active Year

Every class wants to make theirs one that everyone will always remember. This is the way the Class of '66 has felt.

As Juniors we have tried to follow the high standards already set for us by other successful classes. Together we have tried to create a better school spirit by planning and carrying out a successful Homecoming float, a Junior dance, a May Festival booth, as well as by selling Senator stickers for our cars.

As we look back on this year, we realize that it is one we will never forget. By participating in SHS's many activities, whether they be sports, clubs, music groups, or regular home study, we know that we have come to feel just a little more a part of SHS and have come to understand what it means to belong to such a great high school!

Class of '67 Entered SHS With Enthusiasm

The Sophomore Class of 1964-1965 entered Springfield High School with just as much, and probably more, enthusiasm than any of the preceding classes. We wanted it to be known that although we were under the most crowded conditions present in SHS, the Class of '67 could not only adjust to its new environment, but emerge victorious.

As we move into our second year at SHS, we will look back on the events of our sophomore year—the first Homecoming, winning the city football jamboree, and the basketball games, along with staying up all night to finish reports and study for semester exams. These and many more are the activities which contribute to the life of a sophomore at Springfield High School. I think I can truly say that there isn't one of us who is not proud to be a Senator, and as we continue to climb the ladder, our pride and success will grow.

SHS Variety Show "On the Move"

The annual Variety Show, presented April 2 and 3, succeeded in raising $800 and entertained over 1200 people. The show, sponsored by the Student Council, displayed student talent in numerous acts, such as drum battles, folk singing, piano duets, humorous dialogues, and instrumentals. First place award went to Jerry Jones and Curt Neitzke for their drum battle. The Jack Miller Trio, the Vinsie Dee Drum Battle, and Richard Schildman on the accordion won second place awards. According to tradition, the money sponsored the American Field Service student.

As a final project, the senior class sponsored the May Festival. Clubs, some homerooms, and the three classes constructed various booths for the festival. Among these booths were a jailhouse, a dunking booth, Les Bas Legs, the "House of the Rising Sun," a turtle race, a cow milking contest, and a pie eating contest. The evening was climaxed with the crowning of Missy Milligan as queen and a dance with music by the Fugitives.

Action Proved to Be Golf Team's Ability

The ability of S.H.S.'s golf team to prove themselves in action was one of their vital points. With the support of senior lettermen Tom Byerly, Mark Catron, and Jim Smith along with the help of Coach Meidel, the team competed in four major tournaments: Quincy Invitational, Lincoln Invitational, Big 12, and District. The team also played in several dual-meets including the city meet. The remaining junior lettermen, Tom Cantrill, Dave Jaynes, Bob Mueller, Mike Myerscough, and Kevin Sapp, should make a promising '66 team.

Smith sinks one.

The students were selected by a faculty board on the basis of leadership, scholarship, character, and service. Not more than fifteen per cent of the senior class nor more than five percent of the junior class may be admitted. The Springfield High branch was founded in 1934 and has as its goal to create enthusiasm in scholarship, to stimulate the desire to render service, and to promote dependability and leadership. "Sayonara," Japanese for good-bye and theme for the 1965 senior prom, sat in the hearts of over 300 couples attending this finale dance. The Glenn Miller Orchestra directed by Ray McKinley provided music for the Sayonara dancers from 9 to 12 p.m. on June 4 at the Illinois Building at the State Fair grounds. Colorful murals showing the different seasons of an oriental year plus other murals lined the ballroom walls. At one end of the room was a red fiery-looking dragon while a Japanese teahouse was open on the balcony for punch and fortune cookies. A sparkling pond and fountain set the stage for the prom court. Each girl was escorted down the long ramp to the carpeted risers. Randy Rowland, Prom Committee chairman, crowned Miss Marilyn Adams as queen of the 1965 Prom. Congratulations, Marilyn!
